

I can see no rationale for stifling an easily accessible source of information on traffic and weather. XM radio should be able to broadcast local traffic and weather reports in competition with regular radio stations. I travel frequently. I want to be able to hear DC area traffic and weather while I'm on my home. That's a service that AM and FM stations can't provide.